Influx of Migrants in Bangalore

1864. SHRI B. K. HARIPRASAD: Will the Minister of URBAN DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that Bangalore has been recording an unprecedented influx of migrants from other States;

(b) whether under the Mega City Scheme aimed at infrastructural development introduced in 1993-94 which covers Bangalore also, adequate outlays have been provided commensurate with the quantum of migrant influx; and

(c) what is the status of the preliminary study undertaken by Government to assess the situation in Bangalore?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF URBAN DEVELOPMENT (SHRI P. K. THUNGON): (a) While it is difficult based on available data, to say whether Bangalore has been recording an unprecedented influx of migrants from other States, the 1991 Census Data reveals that during the decade 1971—81, Bangalore Urban Agglomeration recorded a growth of 75.56 per cent, whereas during 1981—91, the growth rate was considerably less at 39.87 per cent. The population growth is the result of three components: (1) natural increase, (2) net migration (inmigration-outmigration), (3) reclassification of areas. No data on the decomposition of population growth into these three components are available for Bangalore, although it is a fact that there is migration to Bangalore from both within and outside the State of Karnataka.

(b) Under the Centrally-Sponsored Scheme of infrastructural Development in Mega Cities, a sum of Rs. 20 crores is allocated for Bangalore during 94-95.

(c) A study supported by the Asian Development Bank (ADB) to assess the situation in Bangalore and to recommend channelisation of growth away from Bangalore through the development of Ramanagaram and Channapatna as Satellite towns and Tumkur and Mysore as counter-magnets to Bangalore has been completed. The findings of the Study have been discussed by ADB with the Ministry of Urban Affairs and Employment, Department of Economic Affairs and Karnataka State Government. No final decision has been taken by by ADB on an investment programme based on the study findings.
